Adventures on the Trails in Oswego County

With more than 33,000 acres of public land encompassing rolling hills, diverse woodlands and the expansive shoreline of Great Lake Ontario, Oswego County offers year-round opportunities for hiking and exploring.

Visit our website for a geocoded trail map that shows more than 200 miles of public lands: visitoswegocounty.com

Winona Forest Recreation Area:

Hikers, skiers, snowmobilers, fat bikers, atv riders, equestrians, mushers and snowshoers enjoy exploring this 70-mile trail network in northern Oswego and southern Jefferson County on the edge of the Tug Hill Plateau.

Comprising more than 9,000 acres, the former farmland was reforested by the Civilian Conservation Corps who built roads and ponds during the 1930s and 1940s. The area enjoys extensive winter use, thanks to Lake Ontario’s epic “lake effect” snows. Volunteers organize a variety of events along the trail network, from SnoFatShu snowshoe and fat bike duathlons, to the Deer Fly Run in August.

More info on Winona: winonaforest.com
Great Bear Springs Recreation Area:

This pristine area between Phoenix and Fulton on the east bank of the Oswego River features a network of trails and an old canal lock.

According to legend, a young Native American brave - some say the father of Hiawatha - was attacked here by a large bear. He survived the attack and named the springs “Mishemokwa,” meaning “great bear,” in honor of his victory. The springs have provided drinking water to local residents for centuries. Great Bear is popular year-round and offers spectacular cross-country skiing along with hiking and cycling trails.

Oswego Canal Park Walking Trails:

Portions of this unique trail were built on a former railroad line through historic Oswego. A pedestrian bridge 175 feet over the Oswego River provides a panoramic view of sites where military campaigns took place during the French and Indian War, American Revolution, and War of 1812. Restaurants, shops and historic sites are all within walking distance. Stop and watch the river’s fishing action, or bring your own pole and tackle.

City of Fulton Walking Trails:

Lake Neatahwanta Nature Trail – This trail runs 1.7 miles from the North Bay Campground area, through Recreation Park, to the G. Ray Bodley High Jr. High Athletic Complex. Oswego River Pathfinder Trail – The Indian Point Landing and Oswego River Pathfinder Trail feature a small boat launch, two gazebos, and pedestrian trail that extends one mile along the river from Indian Point Landing south to the Canal Park. www.visitoswegocounty.com/wp-content/uploads/Oswego-Trail-Map-2013.pdf

The trail is paved, accessible and bicycle-friendly. The trail passes along the river on the north bank, with panoramic views of the “palisades,” or high south shale wall. There are two bridges that pass over an overflow channel of the river. The area east of the long bridge was known as Academy Grove, and once was the playground for the old school up above. West of the Long Bridge, the trail passes beneath the 1870 Syracuse Northern Railroad stone arches. These arches were part of an early bridge that crossed the river carrying the short-lived railroad.

Pulaski Village Trail:

Opened in 2016, the Pulaski Salmon River Walk links Forest Drive and River Street passing beneath the “long bridge.” The trail is less than a mile and is best accessed by parking near the Pulaski Courthouse and walking to the Forest Drive or River Street trailheads.

The trail passes along the river on the north bank, with panoramic views of the “palisades,” or high south shale wall. There are two bridges that pass over an overflow channel of the river. The area east of the long bridge was known as Academy Grove, and once was the playground for the old school up above. West of the Long Bridge, the trail passes beneath the 1870 Syracuse Northern Railroad stone arches. These arches were part of an early bridge that crossed the river carrying the short-lived railroad.

Numerous routes through Oswego County:

onondagacyclingclub.org/ridemaps/
Salmon River Falls:
The legendary Salmon River is known worldwide for its tremendous fishery. Thousands of trophy salmon, steelhead, trout and bass run the river’s pristine waters.

Hidden 19 miles upstream is Salmon River Falls - a 110-foot waterfall overlooking a long, steep gorge. An accessible trail leads along the northern edge of the gorge. Another more challenging trail takes hikers on a 600-foot route to the bottom of the gorge where they can experience the mists of the falls at the edge of a deep pool. Visitors often look up to see bald eagles circling over the steep cliffs.

Adventurous ice climbers have developed numerous routes on the ice formations downstream of the falls. Another trail stretches about a mile above the falls.

SAFETY PRECAUTIONS
- A restricted area exists around and including the cliff face, plunge pool and falling rock zone. Public access is prohibited within 15 feet of the falls edge and all cliff edges. No swimming or wading in plunge pool.
- River Bed and Gorge Trails are closed Nov. 15 - May 1 and during high water events.
- Registered ice climbers may use Gorge Trail during winter months.

Deer Creek Dune Walk:
Nestled along a 17-mile stretch of natural sand dunes on the eastern Lake Ontario shoreline, Deer Creek Marsh Wildlife Management Area is a diverse collection of dunes, wetlands, marsh, creek and cobble beach bordering the open waters of Lake Ontario.

The wildlife management area offers 2.6 miles of quiet paddling on Deer Creek, and an observation platform with views of Lake Ontario and the expansive marsh. A barrier dune and cobble beach protect the secluded marsh area from the lake’s forceful winds and waves. A dune walkover provides access to both Deer Creek and Lake Ontario without harming the fragile dune system.

This is a great spot for viewing the sunset and observing birds and wildlife, hiking, fishing, and paddling. In late summer, lucky visitors may glimpse hundreds of Monarch butterflies as they float on air currents over the open lake and land on shrubbery to rest and recover from their journey.
BIRDING

Diverse woodland habitats, pristine wetlands, and expansive shorelines make Oswego County an excellent year-round birding area. Best known is Derby Hill Bird Observatory where migrating raptors, waterfowl and songbirds have soared above the bluff overlooking the southeastern shore of Lake Ontario for thousands of years.

Oswego River

Many species of birds can be found along the Oswego River Canal, including the elusive osprey and bald eagle. Migratory waterfowl and gulls congregate in the Oswego Harbor near the dams in Oswego, Minetto, Fulton and Phoenix. Osprey and bald eagles are frequently seen cruising over the river, while wading birds such as herons are common during the warmer seasons.

Local nature areas, forests and parks include the Curtiss-Gale Wildlife Management Area, Great Bear Springs Recreation Area, Minetto Riverview Memorial Park, Indian Point Landing, Henley Park and Sliding Oswego’s Rice Creek Field Station.

Lake Ontario Shoreline

Several sanctuaries and parks along Lake Ontario offer unique spots for spotting migratory raptors as well as songbirds, waterfowl and woodland birds, including many rare species.

They include Richard A. Noyes Sanctuary, Mexico Point State Park, Derby Hill Bird Observatory, Selkirk Shores State Park, and the eastern Lake Ontario marsh areas of Deer Creek Marsh Wildlife Management Area, and Sandy Island Beach State Park.

Oneida Lake Shoreline

Wetland areas along the northwestern shore of Oneida Lake include the Toad Harbor Swamp Important Bird Area in the Three Mile Bay Bird Conservation Area where warblers, heron, waterfowl and several rare species may be found.

Tug Hill Plateau

Waterfowl and songbirds may be found along the numerous lakes, ponds and wooded trails on the Tug Hill Plateau. Birders enjoy exploring remote areas of Littlejohn Wildlife Management Area and Happy Valley Wildlife Management Area and the Winona Forest Recreation Area in central and eastern Oswego County.

DERBY HILL BIRD OBSERVATORY

is a designated New York State “Important Bird Area.” In the spring of 1995, watchers at Derby Hill counted a world-record 19,531 red-tailed hawks. Thousands of hawks and hundreds of bald eagles soar over this bluff each spring on their way northward. In the fall, look for geese, ducks, terns, and other waterfowl in migration.

On average 40,000 raptors are counted each spring as they migrate northwards, making this site one of the best spring birding sites in the country. The official hawk count starts March 1 and continues through May.

Derby Hill is located on Sage Creek Drive just east of the hamlet of Texas, off Rt. 164. Watch for the green signs for Derby Hill traveling either direction on 104B. Drive to the end of Sage Creek Drive, and turn right to head up to the bluff at the top of the hill.

DIVING

Historians estimate there have been more than 160 shipwrecks off the coast of Oswego County in Lake Ontario. Ford Shoals, about 3.9 miles south of the City of Oswego, is the site of at least five shipwrecks, most of which were salvaged.

Some of the best spots to explore are:

The David W. Mills

GPS N 43.26.630, W 76.35.089

This vessel is a New York State Submerged Cultural Preserve and Dive Site. The David W. Mills was a typical Great Lakes cargo vessel of the late 19th century. Measuring 202- by 34-by 13-feet, this wooden “steam barge” could carry over one million board feet of lumber. The vessel was originally named Sparta and was launched at Cleveland, Ohio in 1874. Renamed in 1910, the Mills ran aground on Ford Shoals on Aug.11, 1910 in a dense smog created by forest fires in Canada. Attempts to free the boat failed and it broke apart during a violent October storm.

During the mapping of the David W. Mills site, marine artifacts inconsistent with the Mills’ age and type were located, including a large wooden rudder that predates the Mills design and rests within 150 feet of the Mills’ metal rudder.

The Mary Kay

Built in 1957, the Mary Kay was a 55-foot, 35-ton tugboat powered by twin Murphy diesel engines. On Sept. 21, 1988, the Mary Kay left Rochester to begin her long journey to her new home in Boston. Just west of Oswego Harbor, two 9-foot waves crashed over her stern and filled the engine room. She listed and sank quickly. Aboard were the captain and engineer. Responding to a short radio call for help and phone calls from witnesses on land, the US Coast Guard cutter from Oswego headed out into the storm and rescued the two men.

The stern and midships of the Mary Kay sit upright on the rocky bottom. The bow section lays on its port side. The superstructure has crumbled and lies in a debris field immediately south of the wreck. A layer of zebra mussels coats the wreck and surrounding lakebed. The two propellers, hull post, and twin diesel engines are exposed for inspection. Bass often school around the stern and eels can be observed during night dives.

The Harborfest Houseboat

GPS N 43.27.470, W 76.33.335

During Harborfest ’93, North-
Swego County’s sunsets are said to be among the most beautiful in the world. While no two are ever alike — the colors, the clouds and the limitless horizon make each one unique — you can be sure that every experience will be filled with breathtaking splendor!

Sunset over Lake Ontario… seriously one of the most amazing things you will ever see.” reported on the Web site www.seebeforeyoudie.net.

BOATING SAFETY

• Wear a personal flotation device.
• Do not use intoxicants while boating.
• Check the weather forecast before you go.
• Tell someone where you are boating and when you will return.
• Take a boating safety course!

FUN FACTS

Oswego is the oldest freshwater port in North America. Established in 1725, it is the first port of call on the Great Lakes, welcoming ships from around the world and handling more than one million tons of cargo each year.

Part of the New York State Canal System, the Oswego River measures 23.7 miles long and falls 128 feet in its course. It is one of the few rivers that flow north and second only to the Niagara River as the largest river flowing into Lake Ontario.

There is no Lock 4 on the Oswego Canal. Initial designs called for eight locks, but subsequent changes made it unnecessary. Rather than re-number the hand-drawn blueprints, engineers decided to skip the lock number altogether.

The entire New York State Canal System was placed on the National Register of Historic Places in 2014.

THE OSWEGO CANAL

The Oswego Canal played a vital role in the settlement of Oswego County and the history of our nation. One of the first priorities for the county’s founding fathers, the canal was completed in 1828, connecting the Erie Canal to Great Lake Ontario and creating a gateway to upper lake trade and migration.

Barges and packet boats carried farm products, commercial goods, and passengers, as well as innovations, ideas and the social movements that shaped 19th century America. It was a strategic route for carrying supplies, arms and men in colonial wartime, an escape route for fugitive slaves, and thousands of people worked in mills and factories along the canal.

Over the years, the canal was reconstructed, towpaths were abandoned, and electronic machinery replaced hand-operated devices on the locks. Today, it essentially follows the route of the Oswego River and is used primarily for recreation such as fish- ing, paddling, and pleasure boating.

Canal Communities:
Spend time exploring the unique cities, towns, and villages nestled along the canal. Each one features distinctive architecture, cultural and historic sites, and local shops and eateries. Be sure to visit local museums to learn about the people and innovations that contributed to the growth of the area and the development of the country.

Oneida Lake:
Begin your journey on the historic Oswego Canal at Three Rivers Point, where the Oneida, Seneca and Oswego rivers all converge. Learn more about the Oneida Lake community in the “Explore the North Shore” section (p.30).

Phoenix:
For an extra dose of hometown hospitality, pull up to the Phoenix docks to meet the Bridge House Brats, a group of local kids who volunteer all summer to enhance their community. They greet and help boaters with small errands including grocery delivery, dog-walking, and meal orders and delivery from local restaurants. Visit The Gingersnap Bakery and Lock 1 Distilling Company. See the Bridge House Museum (p.58) or enjoy music in the park on Monday and Friday evenings.

As you move toward Fulton, glimpse remnants of the old Erie Canal, including the former Hinnmannsville Lock, on the east bank of the river.

Fulton:
The city of Fulton provides spectacular views of the Oswego Falls from the Oneida Street bridge as well as delectable dining along the river (p.77). You’ll find Tavern on the Lock, Blue Moon Grill, and Mama Gina’s all within walking distance.

Support the Future Business Leaders of America Club at Backstreet Books and Bistro, which offers an eclectic selection of books, internet service, coffee and snacks. Visit the John Wells Pratt House Museum (p.58) and enjoy live music on Friday evenings in the Canal Landing Gazebo.

Phoenix:
For an extra dose of hometown hospitality, pull up to the Phoenix docks to meet the Bridge House Brats, a group of local kids who volunteer all summer to enhance their community. They greet and help boaters with small errands including grocery delivery, dog-walking, and meal orders and delivery from local restaurants. Visit The Gingersnap Bakery and Lock 1 Distilling Company. See the Bridge House Museum (p.58) or enjoy music in the park on Monday and Friday evenings.

As you traverse the canal toward Minetto, notice Pathfinder Island, named for James Fenimore Cooper’s well-known book, on the east side of the channel. After serving as a naval officer at Fort Ontario, Cooper utilized the local environs to set the stage for his story. You’ll also see the former Van Buren Estate, first settled in 1796 by John Van Buren, first cousin to past president Martin Van Buren, and Battle Island, so named for its role in the French and Indian War.

Minetto:
Relax in Minetto’s Riverview Park on the west side of the river. The park features a well-manicured landscape with picnic tables, a bathhouse, a car-top boat launch, and a serene view of the river and the Minetto Bridge. The first bridge was built in 1872 just north of the present bridge.

Traversing the canal, you can see the cellar entrance to a maze of caverns that were once used by the former Brosemer Brewery to store and transport beer to Oswego.

Oswego:
In Oswego, you’ll find specialty shops, restaurants, and scenic walkways in the downtown area along both sides of the Oswego River. Enjoy riverfront dining set against a spectacular sunset. Browse a farmers’ market and listen to great music as you stroll along the river to a lakeside park. Rich in history, the Port City is home to several local museums and historic sites of national significance (p.54). Visit Fort Ontario State Historic Site, Safe Haven Holocaust Refugee Shelter Museum, H. Lee White Maritime Museum, and the Richardson-Bates House Museum.

Enjoy great events (p.46) such as Harborfest, considered central New York’s favorite family festival. The free four-day event takes place the last weekend in July and features live music, special events, crafts and vendors, food, and an unparalleled fireworks spectacular over the harbor. Paddlefest is another fun summer event, as paddlers “lock through” the canal from Fulton to Minetto to Oswego.

PADDLEFEST

Paddlers can enjoy and appreciate the unique beauty of the historic Oswego River as they “lock through” four canal locks during Oswego County’s annual Paddlefest.

Founded in 2012, the event gives groups of paddlers a chance to travel a waterway that’s linked to the famous Erie Canal.

Kayakers, canoeists and paddle boarders can choose from three routes. Two courses take paddlers through four locks and into Oswego Harbor on Great Lake Ontario, where they end near the H. Lee White Maritime Museum, in historic downtown Oswego.

The long course, approximately 13 miles, is geared for experienced paddlers and launches from Indian Point Park in Fulton. The full paddle trip can be up to six hours or more.

Paddlers can also launch from Minetto Town Park and head north, passing through a lock in Minetto and three locks in Oswego. This leg is approximately 5.5 miles.

A third option takes paddlers on a scenic and relaxing journey from Indian Point Landing north to Minetto. Historic views along the way include Pathfinder Island and Battle Island.

Battle Island is named for a brief but pivotal battle which took place July 3, 1756. The battle began when French soldiers and their Native American allies attacked British soldiers who were travelling by boat to Albany. The British, who were better armed, counter-attacked from the small island where they were concealed by trees. The French retreated after about an hour. Long after the battle, bullet marks remained on trees on Battle Island.

Paddlefest is organized by the H. Lee White Maritime Museum with assistance from several law enforcement, fire and marine safety units and volunteers.

For more information about Oswego’s Paddlefest, visit www.facebook.com/hlwmm or www.hlwmm.org.
Stretcher more than 40 miles from its headwaters on the Tug Hill Plateau to the broad expanse emptying into Lake Ontario, the Salmon River is known worldwide for its tremendous fishery and pristine waters. Thousands of trophy Chinook and Coho salmon, steelhead, rainbows, brown trout and smallmouth bass run the length of the river through the four seasons of the year. The lands and communities along this winding river are blessed with quiet reservoirs, a spectacular 110-foot waterfall, hiking, ATV and snowmobile trails, farmlands, villages and hamlets.

Lake Ontario once supported the largest freshwater salmon population in the world. Thanks in large part to the efforts of the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC), the region has evolved into a spectacular year-round fishery. Thousands of anglers from across the U.S. and around the world converge on the river each fall to experience the tremendous migration of Pacific salmon up the river.

Named for the large population of native Atlantic salmon that migrated annually up Lake Ontario’s tributary streams, the Iroquois visited the river and set up fishing camps along the banks to fish for Atlantic salmon. It remains one of the only spots in North America where anglers can fish for Atlantic salmon.

The first permanent white settlers moved into the area shortly after the end of the American Revolution and the river shaped local commerce with water power, mills and factories, lumbering, fishing and farming as main industries. In 1981 the state DEC opened a fish hatchery near the village of Altmar for stocking Lakes Ontario and Erie and their tributaries with trout and salmon. The hatchery continues to raise millions of Coho, Chinook and Atlantic salmon, along with steelhead and brown trout for stocking in New York State waters.

The harsh winters create spectacular and stunning ice formations at the falls. Ice climbing is prohibited on the main waterfall and restricted use area, but is allowed on the gorge cliff face, downstream of the falls restricted area. All ice climbers must register at the trailhead at the top of the gorge, each day of use.

Ice climbers have documented several routes for climbing sections of the gorge walls. Additional information is available at http://www.jmlawyer.com/SalmonRiver%20Falls/web/SalmonGuide.pdf by Jim Lawyer and http://www.dec.ny.gov/lands/63578.html.

Selkirk Shores State Park:
Located 2.2 miles south of Port Ontario, this lovely state park overlooks Lake Ontario and is popular for camping, hiking trails, fishing, picnic areas and rental cabins during the summer and fall months. The park remains open during the winter for snowmobiling, snowshoeing and cross-country skiing. The nearby Pine Grove boat launch, operated by New York State, offers access to the Salmon River. Boats may travel partway up the river or head out toward the river’s mouth and Great Lake Ontario.

Salmon River Lighthouse:
Originally called the Salmon River Light Station, the federal government commissioned construction of this lighthouse at the mouth of the Salmon River in 1838. The cost was $3,000. In November 1976, the Selkirk Lighthouse was dedicated as a “Designated Historic Landmark” by the Oswego Heritage Foundation. The structure is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. The lighthouse is operated as a private lodging from spring through fall. The structure is one of a few lighthouses on the Great Lakes that accommodates overnight guests. salmonriverlighthouse@gmail.com; 315.509.4208.
Pulaski:
The village of Pulaski was one of two county seats; for years during the 19th century the Oswego County Clerk transported records back and forth between Oswego and Pulaski. Main Street is characterized by beautiful and intricate architecture. The village’s colorful history is preserved by the Pulaski Historical Society, 7477 Maple Ave.

Fishing:
New York State has made great efforts to develop several miles of public access along the river. In addition, several properties, including the Douglaston Salmon Run and Tailwater Lodge, offer private fishing access to guests. Several professional guides offer boat trips and streamside angling experiences along the river. For maps and details consult the Oswego County Fishing & Hunting Guide or go to visitoswegocounty.com/fishing-hunting/.

Fish Hatchery:
Located on County Route 22 just north of the hamlet of Altmar, the Salmon River Fish Hatchery is open March through November. Visitors can watch the harvest of salmon eggs during spawning season and learn about the process of egg fertilization and raising fingerlings that are stocked in NYS waters. The visitor center is open daily from March through November. The grounds are open daily from sunrise to sunset.

Riverside Trail:
A walking trail extends about a mile through the village along the Salmon River.

PUBLIC PARKING
- CCC Road off Orwell-Redfield Road, 4.5 miles west of the hamlet of Redfield. Beach launch. Parking for 16 cars.
- Jackson Road, off Orwell-Redfield Road. 5.5 miles west of the hamlet of Redfield. Concrete ramp. Parking for 22 cars and trailers.
- County Route 17 south of the hamlet of Redfield. Gravel ramp. Parking for 6 cars and trailers.
- County Route 17 in the hamlet of Redfield, across the road from Hayes Drive. Concrete ramp. Parking for 20 cars and trailers.

RESERVOIRS:
Salmon River Reservoir, often referred to as Redfield Reservoir, is a large remote water body located in the hamlet of Redfield. The area is popular with paddlers, anglers and boaters. Primitive camping is permitted on the eastern side of the reservoir. Look for bald eagles and a variety of wildlife.

The lower reservoir, also known as the Lighthouse Hill Reservoir, is located on County Route 22 northeast of the Salmon River Fish Hatchery. This smaller reservoir is popular with paddlers, trout and bass anglers. Look for osprey nests on the power line poles on the edge of the reservoir.

We passed under the Route 17 bridge and into a wildlife paradise. The entire northern shore — honeycombed with channels through small, willow-clad islands and patches of aquatic vegetation — provides habitat for myriad fauna and flora. As we paddled the channel, a river otter paced us, periodically bobbing up with a snort to look around, head held high above the water, then diving in typical undulating otter fashion.”
EXPLORE THE NORTH SHORE of ONEIDA LAKE...

Originally settled by native North Americans thousands of years ago, the French explorer Samuel de Champlain was the first European to visit Oneida Lake in 1615. Settlers were drawn to the north shore by the plentiful supply of fish, natural waterways, and abundant forests. The lakeside communities -- Brewerton, Caughdenoy, Central Square, Hastings, Mallory, West Monroe, Constantia, Bernhard’s Bay and Cleveland -- reflect the region’s colorful history, small town charm and beautiful vistas.

HISTORY

Artifacts show evidence of Native American occupation along the Oneida River and north shore of Oneida Lake dating back thousands of years. Following the Revolutionary War, the towns of Hastings, West Monroe and Constantia were established as settlers filtered into the area. Glass factories, tanneries, grist mills, sawmills and agriculture were prominent industries. Much of the window glass in American homes during the 19th century was manufactured at the Cleveland glass factories. Visitors can learn more about the area’s fascinating heritage through artifacts and interpretive displays at these museums and historic sites. Call ahead for hours.

Oneida Lake is the largest lake lying wholly within New York State, and most of its waters are in Oswego County. A relatively shallow natural lake, with an average depth of 22 feet, Oneida Lake is named for the Iroquois Nation Oneida Tribe. The Oneidas called the lake “Tsoqui” or “white water,” a reference to the wave action on the lake on windy days.
Fishing:
Oneida Lake is well-known for its great walleye, bass and yellow perch fisheries. In the spring, walleye can be found in shallow water near spawning areas and tributaries. During the summer, they’ll move to deeper waters. As the water cools in the fall, walleye move back into the shallows. Fishing from shore after dark this time of year with stick baits and blade baits is a unique and rewarding experience.

Numerous bass tournaments are held on the lake. Look for smallmouth around the shoals, while largemouth are found in larger bays and areas with good vegetation growth. Panfish are found throughout the lake.

Anglers flock to Oneida Lake for ice fishing as soon as the lake ices up. Big Bay is a favorite location for panfish and is one of the first areas on the lake to freeze. Several tournaments are held throughout the season.

Public fishing areas:
• Cleveland Docks: Route 49 in village of Cleveland. Shore and ice access.
• Taft Bay: Route 49, 2 1/2 miles east of the village of Constantia. Ice fishing access.
• Three Mile Bay: off Route 49, five miles southeast of the village of Central Square in the Three Mile Bay Wildlife Management Area. Beach launching. Parking for 20 cars and trailers.
• Toad Harbor: off Shaw Road in the town of West Monroe. Shoreline access and hand launching. Parking for 30 cars. From Route 49, follow Toad Harbor Road south to lake.
• I-81: Swamp Road at the I-81 crossing. Shore access. North shore and south shore fishing areas have separate parking areas. From Exit 31, follow DOT signs for Fishing Access North and/or South.

EVENTS
North shore communities celebrate the four seasons through a variety of colorful and unique events. Our favorites:
• Farmer’s Market, Fort Brewerton, Friday afternoons June – September
• 4th of July Fireworks on the River, Brewerton
• Oneida Lake Olive Tymers Antique Engine Tractor Show, Bernhard’s Bay, September
• Central Square Lions Club Apple Festival, late September
• French & Indian War Encampment, Fort Brewerton, early October
• Don Rowe Antique Snowmobile Show, Two Guys from Italy Restaurant, Central Square, January
• Oneida Lake Die-Hards Ice Fishing Tournament, Cleveland.

Boating and Marinas:
Oneida Lake is part of the historic Erie Canal and New York State Canal system, taking boaters 21.5 miles from Sylvan Beach to Brewerton. Several launch sites and marinas are located along the Oswego County shoreline and the Oneida River channel. (See p.21 for a detailed list.)

NYS DEC Fish Cultural Station:
3 Hatchery Road, Constantia 315.623.7311
The state Department of Environmental Conservation’s Oneida Fish Cultural Station in the village of Constantia stocks the waters of Oneida Lake, and other public waters, with millions of walleye fry and thousands of fingerlings annually. Although walleye are the primary focus of the hatchery, biologists also raise rare species including lake sturgeon and paddlefish. The hatchery is open to the public April 1 to Sept. 30 from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Oswego County Recreation Trail:
The Oswego County Recreation Trail follows the abandoned right-of-way of the old New York Ontario & Western Railroad along the north shore of Oneida Lake and west to Fulton. The trail passes through scenic countryside and crosses many streams using the original railroad bridges. Snowmobiles, mountain bikers and hikers use the trail. ATVs are allowed from the eastern end of the trail west to Toad Harbor.

The trail is divided by Interstate 81 in the village of Central Square. From Maple Avenue, the western portion extends about 12 miles to just west of I-81, while the eastern portion starts in Cleveland and extends about 12 miles to County Rte. 37.

Parking is available at County Route 6, south of Fulton; on Toad Harbor Road, off Rte. 49, near Three Mile Bay; off Mill Street in Constantia; and on Sand Street in the village of Cleveland.

Fishing

Oswego County waters have produced 12 world and state records, including several remarkable fish caught in the Salmon River -- a 47 lb. 13 oz. Chinook salmon, the world record Coho salmon (33 lbs. 4 oz.) and a 33-lb, 2 oz. brown trout.

The top four species in Lake Ontario are Chinook and Coho salmon, and brown and rainbow trout, and recent seasons have produced record high catch rates on Lake Ontario. More than 50 credentialed charter captains, well equipped with navigation equipment, tackle and gear, offer charter trips from marinas in Oswego, Mexico Point, Port Ontario, Catfish Creek and Sandy Pond.

Visitors can enjoy 12 miles of public fishing land along the Salmon River.

Oswego County is home to 12 State and World Record Fish

One of the only places in North America where anglers can catch Atlantic salmon, the Salmon River offers some of the finest sportfishing in the U.S. Massive numbers of Chinook and Coho salmon spawn in the river each fall, followed by steelhead from November through spring.

Anglers can enjoy 12 miles of public fishing land along the river; there are also private fishing preserves in Pulaski and Altmar. Numerous guides are available to help anglers with techniques and gear.

The Oswego River offers a distinct fishery in the heart of downtown Oswego. A variety of fish – brown trout, Chinook and Coho salmon, and steelhead -- move in and out with the seasons near the mouth of the river below the first dam. There is outstanding public access with paved walkways, hotels, restaurants, marinas and other amenities all nearby.

Check out the lower section of the Oswego River, smaller lakes, and streams for small- and largemouth bass, carp, walleye, perch, pickerel, and channel catfish.

Look for walleye and bass in Oneida Lake, and ice-fishing for walleye and perch on Sandy Pond, Oneida Lake and Lake Neahtawanta. Several miles of remote tributary streams are also open to the public, including Trout and Orwell Brooks and the Mad River.

OSWEGO COUNTY
Whether it’s high powered, ultra-sleek Supermodifieds, wheel-to-wheel dirt kicking racing machinery or even go karts, micros or motorcycles, Oswego County possesses something for every motorsports fan or competitor.

Legenday speedways dot the landscape with weekly racing at the clay covered facilities at Fulton and Brewerton, to a nearly weekly escape to the eye-stinging, methanol breathing asphalt exotic Supermodifeds of the Oswego Speedway.

In the late 1940’s the “D Shaped Dirt Demon” Brewerton Speedway opened its door as an asphalt track, but the clay eventually went down and today one of the top weekly fields of big block modifieds are featured at the high speed, compact Route 11 track on each and every Friday night.

Asphalt fanatics flock from throughout the Northeast and Canada to get their racing fix from the Oswego supers. This is one of the few tracks in the nation that feature these unique, 900-horsepower, off set racing machines. This is a regular Saturday night stop for Supermodified aficionados and the season is capped off with the running of the legendary and prestigious International Classic on Sunday of Labor Day weekend.

However, Oswego is unique in another fashion as several inches of clay cover the surface for the grand-daddy of all dirt racing -- Super DIRT Week. This early October event draws the best of the best in big block, small block, pro stock and sportsman racing. This is the Daytona for the dirt racers and is by far the highlight of racing, not only in Oswego County, but the Northeast.

Saturday nights the Fulton Speedway usually attracts well over 100 dirt car racers to the pits where the small block modifieds are the featured class. Fulton, which also started as an asphalt track, converted to clay and now features the action-packed Outlaw 200 weekend on the last weekend of September.

However, racing isn’t simply limited to the oval tracks as go karts and micros see action at the asphalt covered Oswego County Quarter Midget “Claytona” Track while every Friday night the dust flies high at the Oswego Kartway as tomorrow’s drivers gain valuable experience.

Two-wheel fans and racers aren’t to be ignored in Oswego County. Bike weekend is on each and every Friday night.

1.25-mile sand track is an American Motorcycle Association (AMA) sanctioned District #3 track.
It all kicks off on the Wednesday before Columbus Day with a parade of race cars and official vehicles through the city of Oswego. Residents and even school children come out to line the streets as the parade winds its way through the city.

With more than $300,000 in winnings distributed throughout the weekend, Thursday is the traditional qualifying day for racers with Friday action under the lights at Oswego Speedway, where the night is capped off with music and a massive fireworks show.

The trophies and big checks come out on Saturday for the DIRTcar 358 Modified 150 championship, followed on Sunday with the DIRTcar Sportsman Modified 75 and DIRTcar Pro Stock 50 before the grandaddy of them all, the 200-lap, $50,000-to-win finale.

All of that racing has a positive economic impact on the area, generating more than $12 million.

More than 35,000 race fans converge on the city of Oswego each October for NAPA Super DIRT Week, the biggest annual dirt racing event in New York that has become known as Racing’s Biggest Party.

Fans and participants representing 18 states and three countries watch or compete for the biggest prize in Big-Block Modified racing. Between NAPA Super DIRT Week and a number of regional events during the week, more than 300 competitors will participate as the speedway grounds are filled with campers.
Our snowmobile trails are conveniently connected to thousands of trail miles within the New York State snowmobile network. From Oswego County, you can easily access the picturesque Adirondack Mountains, the Tug Hill Plateau, or the farms and fields of the Finger Lakes Region. The county’s clubs work continuously to upgrade the trail system and add new trails when possible.

With some areas accumulating up to 400 inches of that wonderful white stuff every winter, you’re sure to find ideal snowmobiling conditions here in Oswego County at times when other places are devoid of snow. In fact, within the county, the Tug Hill Plateau has the highest snowfall east of the Rockies. This legendary “lake effect” equates to a nice, long snowmobiling season that can start in December and last all the way through March. Combine the ample supply of snow with beautifully manicured trails through wooded winter wonderlands and you’ve got a snowmobiler’s paradise.

Oswego County offers nearly 400 miles of scenic trails, groomed by ten devoted clubs which are all part of the Oswego County Snowmobile Association. These clubs are dedicated to bringing snowmobile enthusiasts together to not only promote and preserve the sport and its safety, but ultimately, to have fun. You can obtain an official map of the Oswego County trail system by contacting any one of the clubs listed here.

Most of our clubs started more than 30 years ago and contain anywhere from 250 to nearly 1,000 members. The volunteers who make up the clubs dedicate countless hours grooming the trails, posting signs, removing trees and branches, repairing storm damage, fixing bridges, and replacing culverts to keep them safe for riders year after year.

Every year these clubs plan, prepare and host fun community events near the trails. Check our events calendar for antique sled shows, winter fests with food, games and bonfires, and snowmobile, ski and sled dog races.

Oswego YMCA Dragon Boat Festival, Oswego, NY
Founded in 1988 to showcase the beautiful Port City on Great Lake Ontario, Harborfest began as a local community festival honoring Oswego’s maritime heritage. It has now grown to an award-winning, international event that welcomes approximately 100,000 people to revel along the Oswego waterfront every year, Thursday through Sunday of the last full weekend of July, visitors and residents alike enjoy an array of acclaimed live music and tasty treats; arts and crafts and vendors galore; and unbounded family fun!

Harborfest is one of the few admission-free music festivals in the country, bringing hundreds of national, regional and local performing artists to stages throughout the city. Listeners groove along to the oldies, smooth jazz stylings, blues rhythms, and classic rock beats. Families can play in an entire park dedicated to children’s activities, including a theater production and parade march.

The capstone event of the weekend’s festivities is the fireworks spectacular on Saturday night! The world-famous Fireworks by Grucci company, known as “America’s first family of fireworks,” lights up the sky over the harbor with an awe-inspiring pyrotechnic display. Over 1,000 computer-controlled firing cues are carefully timed to music, creating a seamless audio-visual experience.

My boyfriend who is from Oswego brought my 8-year-old daughter and me up to experience Harborfest. There was so much to see, watch and experience. The fireworks show was unlike any we have in the south. I can’t wait to come back and visit Oswego again!”

Our rich heritage is told in museums and historic sites across the county. Fort Ontario State Historic Site is the only U.S. military site to play a part in every U.S. war, from the French and Indian to current deployments in the Middle East. Learn the stories of nearly 1,000 refugees who came to Oswego as guests of President Franklin Roosevelt to escape the Holocaust, and discover how abolitionists helped fleeing slaves at the Starr Clark Tin Shop and Underground Railroad Museum.

New York State’s Haunted History Trail highlights many locations with backstories significant to our American heritage. It is a collection of spooky, haunted places seeped in hundreds of years of history. Keep your senses tuned for strange and unusual activity as you explore Oswego County’s three stops on the trail – Fort Ontario, the Starr Clark Tin Shop and Underground Railroad Museum, and Casey’s Cottage.

HISTORY

This star-shaped fortress, situated on a bluff overlooking Great Lake Ontario and Oswego Harbor, is known as the “Guardian of the Northern Frontier.”

Visitors can take self-guided walking tours to learn how soldiers and officers lived, visit the museum shop, and explore the underground stone casemates and post cemetery. Enjoy scenic views from the ramparts, open recreational spaces, shaded picnic areas, and a variety of events throughout the year that celebrate the people and history of the fort. These include festivals and living history encampments, walking tours, conferences and lectures, concerts and theatre productions, lantern tours, and the ever-popular Ghost Hunt and Reveal.

Fort Ontario State Historic Site, Oswego, NY

Fort Holds a Proud Tradition of Military Occupation

By Paul Lear, Superintendent
Fort Ontario State Historic Site

Fort Ontario is the site of three British colonial forts and an existing fortification built by the United States in 1839 with Civil War through WWII improvements. Three French and Indian War and two War of 1812 battles were fought at Fort Ontario, and it was the objective of the last Continental Army campaign of the Revolutionary War. The 1766 conference with Sir William Johnson that ended Pontiac’s rebellion, and the 1775 conference called by Guy Johnson with Joseph Brant and other Indian leaders that turned the frontier into an arena of terror during the Revolutionary War, were held under the guns of Fort Ontario.

Fort Ontario is also the site of the oldest lighthouse keeper’s residence (1822) on the Great Lakes, and the second oldest in the United States. The fort was a Union Army recruit and training center during the Civil War, and it became an infantry battalion post in 1905. A rare Storm Warning Tower built in 1900 stands on the grounds. During WWI Fort Ontario was converted to hospital use, and between world wars it was an Army infantry battalion headquarters post and New York National Guard artillery summer training camp.

From 1941-44 the fort was a special unit training post for black and white anti-aircraft artillery regiments and military police battalions, quartermasters, and a school where illiterate men learned to meet draft requirements.

Fort Ontario was the only WWII Emergency Refugee Shelter for victims of the Nazi Holocaust in the United States, a post-WWII Veterans Housing Apartment Complex, and is now a State Historic Site, Holocaust museum, city recreation area, and Army Reserve Center. The fort continues a history of military occupation of the post since 1755.
