Blogging in Oswego County

Experience Oswego County with a virtual tour! Our team of bloggers will guide you through the art of sport fishing and other fun activities and events, fascinating historical sites and scenic vistas. Go to www.visitoswegocounty.com, click on “About Us,” then “County Blogs” on the drop down menu.

If you’re an avid sportsman looking for the “hot spots” and tips on catching a trophy fish, then you’ll want to read Spider Rybaak’s blog, “Fishing and Hunting in Oswego County.” An author, Spider wrote “Fishing Eastern New York” and “Fishing Western New York,” the most complete studies ever published on recreational fishing in New York State’s fresh waters.

If you prefer to enjoy the great outdoors with a pair of hiking boots, snowshoes or a canoe; or if you are interested in local arts, history and culture, then visit Kelly Jordal’s blog, “Arts and Nature in Oswego County.” Kelly takes you on sunset hikes and to community theaters. The blog also provides insider information on the rich history of Oswego County.

If you’re new to our area, learn all about the best places to see and things to do from Kara Alheim’s blog, “Exploring Oswego County: The Must See’s and Must Do’s.” With a fresh eye and a fun-loving spirit, Kara blogs about her own adventures as she reveals all that Oswego County has to offer.
The Great Outdoors

Nestled between Oneida Lake, the Tug Hill Plateau and Great Lake Ontario, Oswego County’s unique geography makes it a perfect place to explore the great outdoors! We have thousands of acres of state forests, wildlife management areas, nature parks and environmental education centers to welcome outdoor enthusiasts in every season.

With the highest recorded snowfall east of the Rocky Mountains, the Tug Hill region offers exceptional conditions for skiing, snowshoeing and snowmobiling. Our budding spring, warm summer days and vibrant fall foliage are ideal for birding, biking, camping, hiking, canoeing, kayaking and exploring.

Birding

Diverse woodland habitats, pristine wetlands and expansive shorelines make Oswego County an excellent year-round birding area. Derby Hill Bird Observatory in Mexico hosts raptors, waterfowl and songbirds that soar above the bluff overlooking the southeastern shore of Lake Ontario. The Oswego River Canal is home to many species, including the elusive osprey and bald eagle. Further north, look for waterfowl and songbirds along miles of trails on the edge of the Tug Hill Plateau. You’ll find many other birds, including several threatened species in the wetland areas along the north shore of Oneida Lake.

Water Everywhere!

Oswego County is surrounded by water and has the largest shoreline along Lake Ontario of any other county in New York. Not only are the lakes and rivers breathtaking scenic treasures, but they provide endless recreational opportunities. Boaters come from far and wide to spend a day relaxing on Great Lake Ontario or Oneida Lake. The more adventurous types can try their hand at kayaking or rafting down the rapids of the Salmon River. The north and south Sandy Ponds, the Salmon River Reservoirs and Lake Neahtahwanta are great for jet-skiing or canoeing. Many enjoy cruising through the locks of the historic Oswego River Canal, perfect for boaters and paddlers alike. Others just like to swim in our pristine waters!

Ice Climbing

Ice climbing in the Salmon River Falls Unique Area in Orwell is allowed only with daily registration. Each individual climber must fill out a form (available on the “Ice Climbing” page at www.visitoswegocounty.com) and deposit it in the registration box prior to entering the gorge. Registration provides up-to-date information of climbers within the gorge in case of an emergency.

Climbers can access the base of the gorge by the Gorge Trail, which is closed to all others from November 15 thru May 1 due to the potential for high water or icy conditions. This trail is open only to registered ice climbers.

Please be advised that this area is not regularly patrolled. It is recommended that all climbers climb in pairs in case of an emergency or accident.

Oswego River Canal

The Oswego River Canal played a colorful and vital role in the settlement of Oswego County and in the history of our nation. The word “Oswego” is derived from a Native American word, “Osh-we-geh,” which means “the pouring out place.” Established as a port in 1725, Oswego is the oldest freshwater port in North America.

The waterway was a strategic route for carrying supplies, arms and men during the French and Indian War, Revolutionary War and War of 1812. Barges and packet boats traveled continually up and down the river, carrying farm products, commercial goods and passengers. Fugitive slaves used the waterway as an escape route to Canada. Thousands of people had jobs in mills and factories along the canal.

Today, the Oswego River is used extensively for fishing, pleasure boating, canoeing and kayaking. The waters of the Oswego River provide an outstanding year-round fishery for brown trout, salmon, steelhead, perch, carp, bass, walleye and other species, depending on the season. The port of Oswego remains an international shipping port.

Where to Canoe and Kayak

Wonderful paddling adventures are abundant in Oswego County, where a large variety of rivers, lakes, streams and ponds offer endless opportunity for paddlers of all skill levels. Look for remnants of the old canal and historic landmarks along the canal system, watch for bald eagles and heron along pristine rivers and reservoirs, and don’t forget your fishing pole and tackle box for tremendous fishing opportunities!

Deer Creek Marsh Wildlife Management Area, Richland:
Access from NYS Rte. 3 parking area. Deer Creek winds through woodlands before it enters an extensive marsh on eastern Lake Ontario. Look for muskrat, deer, beaver snapping turtles, great blue heron and sandpipers.

Happy Valley Wildlife Management Area/Camp Zerbe Nature Park:

Lake Neahtahwanta:
City of Fulton and town of Granby. Access from Bullhead Point, North Bay Recreation Area and Lake Rd.

Lake Ontario:
Towns of Oswego, Scriba, New Haven, Mexico, Richland and Sandy Creek; city of Oswego. Access at Wright’s Landing Marina; Selkirk Shores State Park; Pine Grove State Boat Launch; and Mexico Point State Boat Launch. Use caution and stay comfortably close to shore. Lake Ontario is an inland sea which can present overwhelming dangers during adverse weather conditions. Several marshes along the lake are navigable, such as Butterfly Swamp in the town of New Haven and Deer Creek Marsh in the town of Richland. North and South Ponds in the town of Sandy Creek provide protection from rougher water.

Little Salmon River:
Towns of Parish and Mexico. Access from NYS Rte. 69, west of the village of Parish and continue to the village of Mexico; and at NYS Boat Launch at Mexico Point.

Oneida Lake:
Towns of West Monroe and Constantia. Access at Phillips Point off Toad Harbor Rd. in West Monroe; Constantia Town Park; Brewerton State Pier; and Godfrey Point, one mile east of Cleveland on NYS Rte. 49. This is a large lake subject to storms and winds that can produce high waves. Also beware of boat wakes. The Erie Canal runs through the center of the lake, east to west and is marked by navigational buoys.

Oneida River and NYS Barge Canal:
Towns of Hastings and Schroeppe1. Access at Brewerton State Pier or just below the dam in Caughdenoy. Use caution near Caughdenoy Dam. Navigable from Brewerton to Three Rivers through Lock 23.

Oswego River Canal:
Towns of Schroeppe1, Granby, Volney, Scriba and Minetto; cities of Fulton and Oswego. Access at several public boat launches (see Oswego River listing) between Three Rivers and Oswego. Historic waterway provides a rich cultural history and was the setting for James Fenimore Cooper’s “The Pathfinder.” Download “Oswego River Canalling Guide” at http://visitoswegocounty.com/wp-content/uploads/Canalling1.pdf

Salmon River:
Towns of Albion and Richland; village of Pulaski. Access at S. Albion Rd.; Pineville Bridge and Pineville Fishing and Boat Access on Co. Rte. 48; and Pine Grove at Port Ontario. Kayak access from the Bridge St. launch in Altmar and the Co. Rte. 48 launch in Pineville. Changing water levels can create rapids of varying classes. Conditions are dependent on weather and water releases from the Lighthouse Hill Hydropower Facility. For Salmon River water level conditions at Lighthouse Hill visit http://www.h2oline.com/365123.asp

Salmon River Estuary:
Town of Richland. Access from NYS boat launch at Pine Grove, off NYS Rte. 3. The sheltered estuary hosts a large variety of plants and wildlife.

Salmon River Reservoirs:
Towns of Redfield and Orwell. Access Upper Reservoir at Jackson Rd.; C.C.C. Dr. off Co. Rte. 2; Co. Rte. 17 and Little America Fishing and Boat Access. Access Lower Reservoir at day-use picnic area near Bennett’s Bridge Hydropower Facility on Co. Rte. 22. Look for bald eagle, great blue heron and other wildlife on the reservoirs. Lower Reservoir is not accessible to power boats.

Sandy Ponds:
Town of Sandy Creek. The North and South Ponds are part of the Eastern Lake Ontario Dune and Wetland system. North Sandy Pond is a 4.5 sq. mile pond with a 15-foot maximum depth. South Sandy Pond marshy areas with a variety of wildlife as well as summer cottages along the shoreline. Access by car-top launch at Sandy Island Beach State Park, county Rte. 15, and several private marinas.
Scuba Diving

The Wreck of the Mary Kay

Constructed in 1957, the Mary Kay was a 55-foot, 35-ton tugboat powered by twin Murphy diesel engines. Just west of Oswego harbor, two 9-foot waves crashed over her stern and filled the engine room. She listed and sank quickly.

The stern and midships of the Mary Kay sit upright on the rocky bottom. The bow section lays on its port side. The superstructure has crumbled and lays in a debris field immediately south of the wreck. The two propellers, bollard posts, and twin diesel engines are exposed for inspection. Bass often school around the stern and eels can be observed during night dives.

Shallow depths and the absence of penetration areas make this a popular dive for newly certified divers. Experienced divers find the wreck relaxing, allowing for detailed observation of vessel construction and longer site exploration, often not possible on deeper wrecks.

Diving is possible May through October. May to early-June and late summer are the best times to dive. The GPS coordinates for the Mary Kay are N 43.27.705, W 76.33.198. A maritime heritage educational guide to the wreck is available from the H. Lee White Maritime Museum at (315) 342-0480.

The Wreck of the David W. Mills

At 5:30 a.m. on August 11, 1919, the 202-foot, 925-ton steamship David W. Mills slammed into Ford Shoal, four and a half miles west of Oswego.

The David W. Mills has found a new calling as a popular recreational dive site. Resting in only 12 to 25 feet of water, the Mills is a relaxing adventure for divers of all skill levels. Because she broke apart during a storm, the Mills provides divers with a look at how steamships were constructed over a century ago.

The wreck of the David W. Mills can be found using the OMF Guide and the NOAA Chart 14803. It lies halfway between shore and the green Ford Shoal buoy. The boiler is marked as a boulder on the nautical chart. The GPS coordinates for the Mills are N 43.26.630, W 76.35.089.

On a clear, calm day the wreck can be seen from the surface. Please do not anchor into the wreck. The OMF Guide to the wreck is available by contacting the H. Lee White Maritime Museum at (315) 342-0480.

The Wreck of the Harborfest Houseboat

Harborfest ‘93 was windy. Northwest winds kicked up 8-foot waves on Lake Ontario. A 32-foot houseboat was out on the lake that day. The little, calm-water vessel didn’t stand a chance, and it foundered in 32 feet of water just west of Oswego Harbor. The two men aboard were rescued by the Coast Guard.

During the first winter that the vessel was submerged, the cabin was swept away by ice and now lies in pieces to the east. All that remains is the hull and outside railing. The houseboat is the new home of plenty of bass and perch.

The real name of the vessel is all but forgotten. Local divers began referring to it as the “Harborfest Houseboat” and the name stuck after it appeared in a newspaper’s trivia article in 1996.

The GPS coordinates for the wreck are N 43.27.470, W 76.33.335.

DID YOU KNOW?

Some historians estimate there have been more than 160 shipwrecks off the coast of Oswego County in Lake Ontario and several more in Oneida Lake!

As the fishing capital of the Northeast, year-round fishing opportunities abound in the waters of Oswego County. Anglers seeking that record-breaking salmon or trout, as well as the ever-popular walleye, bass, perch, carp or other species, can expect to have an enjoyable fishing experience. Prime ice fishing opportunities abound on Oneida Lake and Sandy Pond during the winter months.

Widely known for its world-class fishery, the area also offers exceptional hunting and trapping for whitetails, wild turkeys, waterfowl, pheasants, ruffed grouse and small game.
Where to Fish

Oswego County is surrounded by water! If you prefer a lake fishing experience, troll the waters of Lake Ontario or Oneida Lake. If river fishing is more your style, then take a trip down the Salmon, Oswego or Little Salmon rivers. Oswego County also has smaller lakes and bodies of water for calmer fishing such as North and South Sandy Pond, Lake Neahtahwanta, Panther Lake and the Salmon River Reservoir.

For a complete list of where to fish and other fishing information, download the Oswego County Fishing and Hunting Guide at www.visitoswegocounty.com.

Where to Hunt

There are more than 40,000 acres of public land in Oswego County open to hunting and teeming with wildlife. State lands are listed in the Four Seasons of the Great Outdoors section of this visitors guide (see page 4). For a complete list, including private hunting preserves, visit the “Where to Hunt” section of www.visitoswegocounty.com.

General License Information

Annual fishing licenses are valid for one full year (365 days) from date of purchase.

While fishing in New York state, all persons – except those under 16 – must have a valid license in their possession.

All hunters must have a valid hunting license in their possession. Children 12 and younger may not hunt wildlife.

Be familiar with fishing and hunting regulations. When you purchase a fishing or hunting license, you should receive a NYS Fishing Regulations guide and NYS Hunting and Trapping Regulations Guide. For more information, visit the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) Web site at www.dec.ny.gov/index.html or call 1-866-933-2257.

“Few areas in the Northeast can match the quality and diversity of the fishing and hunting found along the eastern basin of Lake Ontario.”

Because of the continuing runs of kings, cohos, brown trout and steelhead through the fall and winter months, and the landlocked Atlantic salmon in the spring, the action never seems to cease in the Salmon River. Though the river is small compared to other nearby streams that flow into Lake Ontario, it is considered by many to be the best tributary for salmonids in the lower USA.

Murals

Cleveland:

Vella's North Shore Market, 103 NYS Rte. 49
This mural by local artist Robert McNamara covers the west side of the supermarket and highlights the colorful history of Cleveland, including the Cleveland Glass Works Factory.

Fulton:

Indian Point Park, NYS Rte. 481N
This 9- by 10-foot stained glass mural of famed artist Vincent Van Gogh's "Starry Night" is made from nearly 2,000 cut glass bottles. The work is a community project sponsored by the CNY Arts Center and led by local artist Leslie Paice.

Salvation Army Building, 62-64 S. First St.
This mural by local artist Ben Jerred is located on the south side of the building in Fulton's Canal View Business District. It celebrates the city's history by depicting life on the Oswego Canal and paying tribute to the former L.C. Smith Hunter Arms Company.

US Post Office, 214 S. 1st St.
This mural is located in the lobby of the post office and depicts Father Simon LeMoyne, a Jesuit missionary from Montreal, Quebec, Canada, speaking to Native Americans as he stands in a canoe being paddled along the Oswego River by an Iroquois Indian. It was painted in 1942 by Carolyn Speare Rohland, a prolific artist hired through President Franklin Roosevelt's New Deal Art Project.

Mexico:

McAuslan Building, 3245 Main St.
This mural covers the entire west wall of the building and showcases Mexico's rich history, agriculture, business and manufacturing, and its unique and famous role as part of the Underground Railroad.

Mexico High School, 3338 Main St.
(315) 963-8400
This multi-colored woodblock mural was hand-carved in France in the mid-1800s. The piece features multiple panels that depict scenes from the Revolutionary War. There are only two in existence, and the other hangs in the White House in Washington, D.C.

Oswego:

American Legion Hall, Post #268, 69 W. Bridge St.
Artist Jennifer Hall painted these four 19- by 8-foot murals to honor the U.S. military armed forces. Together, they hang on the south side of the building which was built in 1843 as the First Presbyterian Church. Later, as a post, it was named for William S. Monaghan, a career soldier and World War I hero.

H. Lee White Maritime Museum, 1 W. First St.
This series of epic paintings depicts some of the most dramatic moments in the history of Fort Ontario. These 6- by 20-foot oil-on-canvas pieces were completed between 1937 and 1938 by American artist George Gray. Originally commissioned by General Leslie Kincaid for the former Pontiac Hotel in Oswego, the works were later donated to the marine museum.

Oswego East Side Fire Station, 35 E. Cayuga St.
The Oswego Fire Department was established in 1876 and this mural covers the west wall of its east station. It honors the tradition of fire service in the Oswego community, from the early days of horse-drawn water pumps to the more modern fire engines.

The Palladium-Times, 140 W. First St.
Created by artist Elyahu BenYisrael in 2000, this mural is situated in a park setting at the entrance to the building. It pays homage to the early days of newspapers and George Barnard, the photographer credited with the first ‘action news’ photographs. They were taken of a fire in the Oswego grain mills on July 5, 1853 using a new photography process known as Daguerreotype.

Paul's Big M, 276 W. First St.
Artist Dominic Catalano created this mural in 1998. It spans the entire south side of the supermarket, showcasing the building's original function in the early 20th century. Built in 1906, it was once the New York Central Train Station and operated until 1953. The following year, it was renovated into the market that stands today.
Murals

Quality Inn and Suites, 70 E. First St.
Set on the northwest corner of the hotel, this lighthouse mural appropriately faces the Oswego River, welcoming vessels into the harbor. Created by artist Jennifer Hall, it depicts the former Oswego Inner Harbor Lighthouse which was built in 1837 and operated as a beacon for maritime traffic for nearly 100 years.

Raby’s Professional Building, Raby’s ACE Plaza, 247 Washington Blvd.
Artist Eliyahu BenYisrael painted this mural in 2001 as part of the Oswego Historic Mural Project. The largest and most complex of the series, the Edward Austin Sheldon Mural is 8- by 80-foot and includes several scenes and more than ten individual life-sized portraits to honor the life of this innovative educator and founder of the Oswego Normal School, which has now become SUNY Oswego.

the river's end bookstore, 19 W. Bridge St.
This petite mural is tucked away on the south side of the storefront. It was designed to honor Dr. Mary Edwards Walker, a former Oswego town physician who served in the Civil War. An outspoken abolitionist, feminist and prisoner of war, Dr. Walker is the only woman to be awarded the U.S. Congressional Medal of Honor.

SUNY Oswego, Tyler Hall, 7060 NYS Rte. 104
This Impressionist mosaic was created by student artist Wendy O’Dea as part of SUNY Oswego’s “Art Attack” series in the mid-1980s. The mural combines tile, mirror and painted areas to generate a burst of kinetic energy and depict Oswego’s famous sunsets on Great Lake Ontario.

SUNY Oswego, Tyler Hall, 7060 NYS Rte. 104
This series of abstract mosaics are located across the top of the east wall of Tyler Hall. They were created from tile, mirror and paint to create eye-catching images that delight and challenge the imagination.

SUNY Oswego, Rich Hall, 7060 NYS Rte. 104
Designed and created in the summer of 2004 by the SUNY Oswego mural painting class, this mural is located in the front entry of the building. It depicts the growth of business from agriculture, industry and Oswego’s early days as a port city to the global connections and infrastructure in practice today.

Parish: 2972 Main St.
This mural can be found on the west side of the building and features a family enjoying apple-picking and other activities in rural Oswego County.

Pulaski: Stefano’s Pizzeria & Restaurant, 3852 NYS Rte. 13
This mural was created by artist Mike Hubbard in 2005 for the Stefano family. It hangs on west side of building and depicts the family enjoying the quality of life offered in Salmon Country. It pays tribute to Little League baseball, the Ringgold Volunteer Fire Department and some of the area’s greatest assets in wildlife and world-class fisheries.

Sandy Creek: Sandy Creek Fire Department, 6026 S. Main St.
This is the second mural created by local artist Lindsey Guile for the fire department to honor the service and dedication of its volunteer firefighters. The first mural was lost due to the replacement of the station doors.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Midway Drive-In Theatre in Minetto opened for business in 1948 and is the oldest currently operating drive-in theatre in New York State. In 2016 the Midway was voted No. 4 in USA Today’s Readers’ Choice Awards for the Top 10 Drive-In Movie Theaters in the U.S.

The single screen theatre is known for its triple features nearly every weekend. The Midway was the first drive-in theatre in the U.S. to screen “open captioned” movies for the deaf community and continues the tradition every Sunday night.

The Midway is the perfect spot for a family to enjoy a night at the movies. Come early and let the kids play kickball or just sit back and relax while enjoying fresh, made-to-order pizza from the concession stand.

Protect our Trees! Don’t Move Firewood!

New York’s forests are under attack from a number of invasive pests. By transporting firewood, you could be spreading diseases and invasive insects that can quickly kill many trees. Help stop the spread of invasive species and obey these firewood regulations:

- DO NOT import firewood into New York State unless it has been heat-treated to kill pests.
- DO NOT transport firewood more than 50 miles from its source.
- DO buy firewood on-site at your campground or locally; ask for a source receipt.

For more information about firewood regulations, visit http://www.dec.ny.gov/animals/28722.html or call (518) 402-9425.
